Student UAV Competition

Building on the success of competitions in 2007, 2009, 2011and 2012, Unmanned Systems Canada is launching its fifth (now annual) Student UAV Competition.

The purpose is to promote and develop Canadian expertise and experience in unmanned systems technologies at the university and college levels.

The theme remains the same as in past years – support to forest fire fighting. UAVs will be asked to locate points of interest within a designated area surrounding a forest fire in the remote Canadian wilderness.

The competition will be conducted in two phases. Phase 1 – preparation of design papers for review, comment and scoring by a panel of experts. Submission of the Phase 1 Design is a pre-requisite for continuing to Phase 2 – the Operational Demonstration event. The operational demonstrations will be held at Alma, QC from 3-5 May 2013.

If you are interested in hiring top notch engineering talent with real-world systems engineering and program management experience, the competition venue is an ideal recruiting camp. As a sponsor, your attendance is welcomed and access to students is unlimited.

Your support is required to assure the success of this competition. Unmanned Systems Canada is dependent on the generosity of the UVS sector and broader aerospace and engineering community to cover the costs of this event and provide prizes to participating student teams. All money collected for this competition will be used solely in support of the annual competition. Please review the sponsorship opportunities on the reverse side of this paper and contact competition@unmannedsystems.ca to have your name associated with this student event and support interest and growth in Canadian technology.
